What is the ScreenGuide app?

ScreenGuide is fully integrated with Mosyle Manager. This integration helps parents by allowing them to manage their child's device after school and at home. ScreenGuide Parental Control App empowers parents to get closer to their children's digital experience by controlling their screen overexposure at home and through understanding what their children are doing with mobile devices.

The ScreenGuide app is free.

Families would need to download the app from the App Store onto their personal device.

The prompts within the app guide the end user through the steps to get started.

The app is currently only available through the Apple App Store.

This app will provide families of sixth through twelfth grade students with additional oversight and controls in addition to the districts filters and restrictions.
